PATRIARCH DIES
AT TAKOMA PARK

Elder G. A. Irwin, of Seventh-Day Adventists, Passes Away in Sanatorium.

FATIGUED BY JOURNEY

Denomination Today Is Spending Time in Worship and Observing the Sabbath.

In the midst of the business session of the world conference of Seventh-day Adventists yesterday afternoon the word was brought to the platform, and immediately announced to the big audience, that Elder G. A. Irwin, of Loma Linda, Cal., one of the patriarchs of the denomination, and an ex-president of the General Conference, had died suddenly of heart failure, at the Washington Seventh-day Adventist Sanatorium, where he was staying after his long trip across the continent to attend the General Conference here, to which he was a delegate. The announcement sent a thrill of deep sorrow over the entire camp, as Elder Irwin was known by nearly all present and held in affectionate regard because of his high qualities, both of heart and mind. The conference out of respect to the deceased and Mrs. Irwin, who is on the grounds, immediately adjourned, and all business was laid aside until Sunday morning.

The second Sabbath of the big encampment at Takoma Park is being observed today by the denomination. The business affairs of the conference were brought to a close last night, and everything of a secular nature has been put aside, and the day will be devoted to spiritual exercises.

Sabbath Is Observed.

The observance of the Sabbath was begun last night by an opening-Sabbath service held in the big assembly tent. It is the custom of Adventists to begin the Sabbath at sunset Friday night and close it at sunset Saturday night. Hundreds of additional visitors came into the encampment from near-by Adventist churches, scores coming from Baltimore, Philadelphia, Wilmington, Richmond, Hagtown, New York, and many smaller places. These will remain over the Sunday services.

At yesterday's business session conference reports continued to come in from the various union conferences of North America. All of these reports showed unusual progress. Much interest was taken yesterday by the delegates in an address delivered to the conference by Rev. John Fox, of New York, the secretary of the American Bible Society. He told of the remarkable increase in the circulation of the Bible in all parts of the world, and in hundreds of tongues and dialects. At the close of Mr. Fox's address an offering of $323.44 was made to the Bible Society to be used in its work.

This morning at 10 o'clock there will be a Sabbath school held at the encampment, followed at 10:30 o'clock by preaching services, at which Elder A. G. Daniels, of Takoma Park, president of the General Conference, will deliver the sermon. This afternoon at 2 o'clock there will be a memorial service at which eulogies will be delivered on the life and work of Elder G. A. Irwin. Tonight at 7:30 Elder L. I. Conrad, of Hamburg, Germany, the president of the European division of the conference, will deliver a stereoscopic lecture of Seventh-day Adventist mission work in Africa.

CAMP SITE SELECTED.

Y. M. C. A. Boys Will Have Outing Near Annapolis.

Announcement has been made by Albert M. Chesley, director of the Y. M. C. A. boys' department, that the site of the annual camp will be on the South River, eight miles from Annapolis, and that the camp will begin June 24 and continue for two weeks.

A baseball league, volleyball games, track athletics, aquatic, crabbing, trampolining, scout craft, quota mass games, and boating are a few of the sports the campers daily will play. The day begins with a dip in the river followed by a brisk rub down and then breakfast. Breakfast is served under the meal and then follows Bible study under the trees, coupled with lusty singing of hymns. Tent inspection, at which the keenest rivalry exists, is next in order. Every tent struggles to win the coveted championship banner awarded at the close of the camp, and emblematical of the all-around proficiency of the tent winning it in athletics and neatness in tent management.

Interior Official Named.

Secretary of the Interior Lane announced yesterday the appointment of Nathan C. Grover, of New Jersey, as chief hydrographer of the United States Geological Survey, vice Marshall O. Leighton, whose resignation was accepted earlier in the month.

Commercial Club to Meet.

Possible amendments to by-laws will be considered next Wednesday evening by members of the Commercial Club at a meeting at the club. Nonresident memberships are provided for by one amendment.
